Song: And the Band Played On

Casey would waltz with a strawberry blonde,
And the band played on.
He'd glide cross the floor with the girl he adored,
And the band played on.

But his brain was so loaded it nearly exploded,
The poor girl would shake with alarm.
He married the girl with the strawberry curls,
And the band played on.

WELCOME SONG

Song by Wally Williams (Former Club Member)
Welcome to Sugar House Rotary,
We're mighty glad you are here
We'd like to sing you a long song
But a wrong song might appear
So sit you down and make some friends today...Right Here!

ROTARIAN WISDOM

"Communities are not built of friends, or of groups of people with similar styles and tastes, or even of people who like and understand each other. They are built of people who feel they are part of something that is bigger than themselves: a shared goal or enterprise, like righting a wrong, or building a road, or raising children, or living honorably, or worshipping a god. To build community requires only the ability to see value in others: to look at them and see a potential partner in one's enterprise."

Dictionary distribution at Manti Elementary! On September 30, President Dan Sundahl, Ken Simpson, and Wally Brown visited Manti, Gunnison, Ephraim, Moroni and Fountain Green Elementary schools. Garth and Karleen Briggs visited Fairview, Mount Pleasant, and Spring City schools.

So in one day, Rotarians of the Rotary Club of Sugar House distributed 441 dictionaries to the eight schools in Sanpete County.

Ken Simpson was in charge of the weather and successfully arranged a beautiful fall day.

ALL THE STEPS I HAVE TAKEN SINCE POLIO

I was stricken with polio at the age of 7 months. From 1948 to 1953 the disease crippled 250,000 children a year. There was no vaccine to protect me from the virus at the time. My young parents took me to St. Mary's Hospital, in Rochester, Minnesota, on 1 October, 1948.

Linda at St. Mary's Hosp age 18 months

That would become my home for the next 14 months. Fortunately, my three-year-old sister did not become affected by the virus. In many families several children would be stricken. The vaccine became available to children and adults in 1953. After many years of corrective surgery to help with my mobility, I was finally without brace and crutch-free as a sophomore in high school. For the next 20 years, I would complete my professional training, fall in love, become a wife and be blessed to mother three wonderful children.

Now, many years later, I am happy to say that I have successfully accomplished far more than I ever dreamed back then. Those childhood days are simply a memory. Postpolio syndrome has caused me to slow down somewhat, and the use of a brace, crutches, and cane are back to help with my mobility. But I have been blessed with a wonderful family to care for.

I will be visiting classrooms in Minnesota, where I live, on World Polio Day 24 October, and speaking to a Rotary Club in Farmington on 30 October. I love to share my story, because if it reaches just one person to motivate them to make a difference, it is wonderful.

When I visit classrooms to talk to children, I take all the braces I wore as a child. They range in size and have metal and leather braces attached to the shoes. They are all very worn, as I received a new pair of shoes every year. The braces would be adjusted to my changing needs and to fit the shoes. I explain how the braces were made, what different materials were available, and how we were able to pick designs to decorate the braces — like spiderman or a princess. The children are always very interested in the braces.

In the United States, polio may be a memory. But in other parts of the world — like Afghanistan, Nigeria, and Pakistan where transmission of the virus has never been halted — it is very much more. And until we rid the world of polio, it remains a threat to children everywhere. Will you help us?
