John Librett, PhD, MPH

In 1993 I established my first company; Behavioral Science International, Inc (BSI). During the months following Soviet Bloc Decentralization, we worked on public health policy in Prague, Czech Republic in collaboration with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the Czech Ministry of Health, and Charles University, Prague. In 1995 I was credited for the passage of the Nation’s first clean indoor air law, H.B. 50 which abolished restaurant smoking sections, made smoking illegal in all indoor public places, and became the model for every state in the nation. In 2008, I founded the Nation’s first for-profit, social enterprise venture, L3C.

I was diagnosed with cancer while in medical school, and designed my own treatment protocol that became the standard-of-care. This experience motivated me to be a leader in preventive medicine, clinical translation, and health policy.

On these issues I have worked with the White House, the World Health Organization, the Pan American Health Organization, and the American Medical Association, to name a few. Working with governments and corporations in Asia, Eastern Europe, Central and South America, and the U.S.. Additionally, I have personally worked with thousands of cancer patients and cancer survivors, as well as being a trusted clinical advisor to high-net-worth families.

I have raised and managed millions of dollars in private and public funding. Regularly achieving 30% economic annual growth during both prosperous and difficult national economic circumstances.

My health policy research has appeared in leading peer reviewed publications and featured on national television, radio, and social media platforms including the American Journal of Preventive Medicine, World News Tonight, NPR's Morning Edition, and I-Tunes.

I have designed and deployed medical informatics programs with global pioneers and founders in Bayes artificial intelligence. I am a successful Founder, Chief Executive Officer, Executive Director, Clinical Director, President, and Board of Trustees Director for profit and not-for profit companies.

I am a student of both the Rinzai and Soto Schools. I have been a faculty member at Brigham Young University, University of Utah, and University of South Carolina. I am a global yacht captain, master scuba diver, big-mountain skier, and personal and family advisor on matters related to preventive medicine, medical innovation, and wellness. I have made millions of dollars, had dinner with Presidents of nations, fallen into a volcano, climbed thousand-foot granite walls, been chased by ninjas in China, and scuba-dived with white tip sharks. My life is truly blessed. However, my most important accomplishment has been to raise two kind, caring, and successful children. On on!

The Cancer Wellness House was founded thirty-two years ago.

In 2019 we rebranded the Cancer Wellness House to Survivor Wellness. While we updated the brand, retaining our 501(c)3 not-for-profit status, our mission remains the same:

"Survivor Wellness delivers free and reduced cost evidence-based integrative care to cancer patients, cancer survivors, caregivers, and family members; in a home-like setting."

Meeting this mission, we have served tens of thousands of cancer patients, cancer survivors, and loved ones, and have saved Utah citizens tens of million dollars in healthcare spending. Additionally, we have two new earned-income strategies: Survivor Institute, our clinician incubator program, and Survivor Apothecary, our natural products marketplace.

With these efforts, we work for...

- Cancer Patients trying to make ends meet, with a spouse and three children.
- Cancer Patients trying to make ends meet, alone.
- Cancer Survivors experiencing extreme financial, mental, and physical suffering.
- Family members with a loved one suffering through the cancer experience.
- Those who have lost loved-ones to cancer.
- Small business start-ups with a passion to improve the lives of others.
- Local communities that must be built from the inside-out.

For these populations we provide -

- ❖ Acupuncture
- ❖ Cognitive Health Support
- ❖ Clinical Referrals
- ❖ Community Events
- ❖ Reiki
- ❖ Nutrition Plans & Consultation
- ❖ Fitness Plans & Consultation
- ❖ Orthopedic Massage
- ❖ Mental Health Therapy
- ❖ Survivor Care Plans

Our next level of effort requires funding necessary to:

1. Hire talented individuals.
2. Scale operations for a higher level of community impact.
3. Raise community awareness of a new standard of care for cancer survivors.
