SHOPKO UPDATE Westport Capital Partners Mark Isaac

Mark is a Principal at Pinyon & Consulting, Land Use Planning Consultant for Hava Development Inc. and the owner/representative for the Westport Sugar House Project. Originally from Calgary, Alberta, Canada, he moved to Utah after high school and has been a Sugar House resident for more than a decade. Mark graduated from the University of Utah in 1993.

Westport Capital Partners began working with the Sugar House community in late 2016 to talk about opportunities for their new development on the site of the old Shopko. THIS AND THAT . . .

Remembering Vietnam

Ken Burns has taken on a doozy of a subject in his 10-part, 18-hour The Vietnam War, which premieres September 17 on PBS. "We have a kind of historical amnesia about Vietnam," he says, comparing the war to "an amputated limb that still itches, still aches"--painful and visible. "If we, as Americans, want to get over the divisions we feel today so prominently," Burns says, "it's really important to understand the place where they began."
